About Me

As a Full Stack developer with a knack for Front End aesthetics and functional Back End integration, I thrive in creating seamless, user-centered applications. My journey in technology, encompassing roles in Full Stack development, 3D design, and entrepreneurial ventures, has equipped me with a diverse skill set. This unique blend allows me to approach software development holistically, ensuring that each project is not only technically sound but also resonates with its intended audience. My commitment to agile development and continuous learning, reflected in my education and professional experience, drives me to stay at the forefront of technology, delivering solutions that are both innovative and impactful.
